Fairford's Stained Glass - recently (2011) emerged from a decade long restoration program, is the only surviving example of a complete "full cycle" from Adam 'n Eve through Jesus to the Last Judgement, with a few glorious villains thrown in for good measure.

LINKS TO OTHER PARADOXPLACE BOOK PAGES

Links to earlier Paradoxplace new book lists

The book pages of Paradoxplace have grown quite extensive in parallel with the site itself. You will find links to all the book pages here.

Originally, most of the books were in our library, though as the bookshelves have started to seriously sag and overflow, we have introduced direct links to images of book covers at Amazon.

Some of the most interesting books have been bought during our travels. Most but not all are available at Amazon but we have shown them anyway. As you may have guessed from the website we are into photos, and many of the books reflect this preference.

This "Latest Additions" page shows the new book entries as they are put up, and where they have been assigned. The "new" books are not necessarily recently published, but they have recently joined the Paradox library and / or come to our attention.

Of late a really interesting source of book ideas has been the books ordered through our Amazon links which are not mentioned in Paradoxplace. Of course, we do not know who ordered them, but thanks to the buyers for the ideas and for helping Paradoxplace financially by using our Amazon links to buy not just books but sat-navs, computers etc.

For other Paradoxplace links visit the home page
